

HTKJ101 Introduction to Doctoral Studies in the Faculty of Humanities

This course is intended especially for doctoral students starting their PhD studies, but all doctoral students are welcome. Doctoral students can receive 1 credit by attending the course.

Please note: Those attending the course should send in advance a maximum 3-page long research plan to course coordinator Laura-Mari Manninen (laura-mari.j.manninen[a]jyu.fi) by Thursday 8.10.2015 at the latest. Sending a 3-page research plan in advance is sufficient for registration.

Monday 12.10.2015 at 9:15–11:30, F205, Vice-Dean Laura Stark

9.15 – 10:00 Doctoral Studies in the Faculty of Humanities: Guidelines and Tips

10:00 - 10:45 How to write a successful research plan when applying for PhD funding

10:45 – 11:30 Funding application group exercise and discussion

Completion of course: Doctoral students will receive 1 credit towards their doctoral studies (code: HTKJ101 Johdatus jatko-opintoihin) by participating in the morning programme and by completing both written exercises described below:

Exercise 1: the doctoral student should reflect briefly (2-3-pages long) on his/her own PhD studies plan. Did the course help clarify your PhD studies plan? In which ways? What things related to your PhD studies plan remain unclear or are you still uncertain about?

Exercise 2: Choose one of the written exercises (except for Exercise 6 regarding funding) on the University of Jyväskylä's "Orientation to Doctoral Studies" website and write a 2-3 page report on what you have learned from the exercise:

<https://www.jyu.fi/opiskelu/tohtorikoulutus/en/guide/orientation>

Remember to add your own name and your supervisor's name to the report. The reports should be sent to course coordinator Laura-Mari Manninen (laura-mari.j.manninen[a]jyu.fi) by Friday 30.10.2015 at the latest. Evaluation: pass/fail

Welcome!
